Every Saturday night at 10 o'clock a special train party leaves the North Western Terminal, Chicago to see "Two National Parks in Two Weeks." The parties are strictly limited—just about one hundred to each special train. For the next several weeks our parties may slightly exceed that number, owing to the unprecedented popularity of these cut-to-cost, select, escorted vacation tours. About one half of our guests are Chicago people; the other half assemble here from other towns and cities of the Mississippi Valley.

WAR PURPOSES.

The statement credited to a high government dal that the United States is in the war "to lick Germany" cannot be accepted as a complete definition of American intent. The statement proceeds to say that nothing more definite than this has been discussed with the allies and that no specifications of a possible peace have been drawn.

This explanation, because of its anonymous character and its evident lack of consideration of facts, might escape comment if any other statement had been made or if there were any prospect of another being made.

Possibly "licking Germany" is a good popular motive, but it is not good national policy. We are not interested in licking Germany unless something is gained by doing it. We do not even know of what a licking would be considered to consist.

Early in the war the triumphal entry of troops into Berlin was regarded as the objective. After that everything would be determined according to the wisdom of the allies. We know now that Germany must accept terms displeasing to her and acceptable to the nations allied against the central European powers, but we do not know at what stage of the military efforts it will be possible to obtain these terms and we do not know what the terms are as they affect the United States.

The defeat of Germany is a military necessity The army can consider no other prospect and is concerned with no other result. Our confidence is supreme. We know that the United States will not withdraw its hand until the defeat of Germany has been accomplished. But diclomacy has other aims than mere defeat. That is a militaristic principle and a militaristic necessity. Soldiers are not concerned with policies, but with methods They want and must have success in the field That is what they give the diplomats and statesmen to enable them to continue the work.

When diplomacy says that the object of the United States is to defeat Germany it has stated a military objective and not a diplomatic one. We are still in the dark as to the objects, the definite, specific objects the United States seeks in the war. It seems to us that a definition is important. It is not imaginable that the purpose is merely to kill a mad dog.

THE RUSSIAN COMMISSION.

The Russian commission comes to Chicago at ime when the true Russia, struggling toward democracy, needs the encouragement of all democ racies. The men who compose the commission are true Russian patriots and, perplexed as they must be by the uncertain prospects of a great country contrary. For our indifference, our stinginess, and 'Ag.' the symbol for silver, this joyous mix of type has in great upheaval, they merit the appreciation and our shortsighted folly we pay dear. Moreover, the all the ear-marks of The Bug Under the Chip!" understanding of all Americans who know that a federal constitution forbids the use of cruel and true democracy firmly established at the east of unusual punishments, and, while we are not sure Europe would democratize the whole of Europe.

who will be greeted by Chicago are forces intelligently at work to establish a stable condition of true freedom in what was recently a great empire.

GERMAN SPIES IN AMERICA.

There is exhilaration in a good fight squarely fought. After the fight you can shake hands and be friends. But when you discover that, long before the fight and while accepting your hospitality, the other fellow was corrupting your servants, poisoning your well, and rigging an infernal machine under your bed, you feel somewhat as America feels on discovering what the Germans were up to in San Francisco away back in 1913.

Between Germany and England all was then sweetness and amity-that is, on the surface. Beprevailed—on the surface. Between America and wants to sell his picture four times—(1) to a maga-England solemn treaty obligations were in force. zine, (2) to the calendar man, (3) to an advertiser, Everywhere peace reigned. clared herself neutral. Thereupon Germans visited things. Indeed, we are convinced. While justice Hindus on the Pacific coast and registered all who reigns and has her perfect work, all such will consented to take a hand in the revolt. The India burn. committee of the German foreign office in Berlin financed their work and directed it. Zimmermann himself gave it personal oversight.

With money from Berlin the conspirators bought arms and ammunition. Recruits hastened to India. Munitions went by way of China and Japan. It was an organized military expedition, recruited and equipped in the United States and sent out for service against a power with which we were at

For their share in that noble performance quite a swarm of Germans and Hindus are now under indictment in San Francisco. The Germans interest us. One was formerly German consul in Chiwere formerly attaches of the German embassy at Washington. How pleasantly they came! With what smiles, what bows, what pretty speeches! All the while they were spies.

It is possible to respect a spy-or half respect him-when he conducts himself as a decent spy. By non consent he is privileged to risk his neck anding out military secrets if he can. But when the German secret service uses its consuls and minor diplomats as spies and, instead of merely digging for military secrets, digs at the very founips with other nations, and. not content with that, sows discord and sedition among our own people, we feel a resentment men say themselves that "there is oil to be had if protouched with loathing. The despicable side of such ducers in the oil business will redouble their efforts among our own people, we feel a resentment ceding the fight as in the fact that its conse- England that recreation, sports, and pleasure givin quences persist long after the fight and make rec-will bear fruit abundantly. Social and industrial ounds heal slowly, and it is conceivable that ip certain directions our international affairs have been tampered with beyond hope of swift recovery. There is a word for all this. Meanness! By meanness the world designates the doing of an injury disproportionate to the occasion and the doing of that injury by foul tactics. They came as friends, those German attachés and consuls. They were enemies, and, while accepting our hospitality and flattering us to our face, worked in secret to injure us as lastingly as might be. What wonder that here and there an American is asking, "How can we ever trust the Germans again?"

NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

The armies move slowly, but the people back of them move rapidly. Back of the shock is the progress and the change. There is a two mile gain on a twenty mile front and behind it is a ten years' change on a nation-wide front. The force at the front is the yeast. The nations behind are the dough.

Europe has been changed politically and socially more than it has been changed by military movements. The same phenomenon is conspicuous here, although American troops have as yet no part of the front.

The destructive force is really creative. In the United States we have been accelerated in progress, incredibly impelled in extreme fashions and hastily toward objects which in ordinary times would not have been approached for years.

For expediency we are modifying forms of government. We are submitting to autocracy because we must have efficiency. We are changing socia orders and habits, to what degree of permanency we cannot know, but the rapidity of the change is apparent.

We doubt that the submission of a national prohibition amendment to the constitution, without the war, was within the reasonable expectation of this generation. Now, with the war it may be expected. Social purposes are changing rapidly. Not all changes will be permanent, but we shall not escape from the new regulation of custom and habit, the new ordering of government affairs. entirely.

A reaction will follow the war, naturally, but, politically and socially, the world never will go all the way back in its tracks. It already has ascended, by destructive force, to a higher plane and it will not climb all the way down.

WOMAN PRISONERS.

The well-nigh unprintable abuse of women in Illinois jails is revealed with shocking literalness in Miss Hinrichsen's latest report. Some progress oward decency has been made since the move ment for prison reform began, but a lot still remains to be accomplished, and proper conditions will never prevail until the people of Illinois insist on them. At present they are apathetic. It is easy to get funds almost anywhere to improve the fire department. It is difficult to get funds to improve the jail. It is as difficult to stir up feelmen and women sent to jail.

We are not arguing for leniency. Let the law take its course. If a woman breaks the law let jail have broken the law. While awaiting trial you enjoying and discharge they have a right to be protected against insult and abuse. Even if they have broken the law it is not to the advantage of so-clety at large to deprave them further. BEER STROKES. THERE are several factors which operate to produce the various forms of heat prostration. The sun's rays is only one of these, and probably not the most important one. Out of door workers in the south-ern states and in the tropics practically never suffer from any form of heat

One of the principal factors is the drinking of beer. It has been propose that the name heat stroke be change to beer stroke. Heat, humidity, and still air are probably larger factors than the sun's rays. The wet bulb thermometer is a better gauge of the air conditions in relation to heat prostration than is the ordinary or dry bulb thermometer. Schereschew-sky says that we begin to feel the effects of heat when the wet bulb thermomete passes 63. Haldane found that when the wet bulb thermometer went beyond 78 degrees continuous hard work became mpracticable.

The temperature of a man working hard in an atmosphere of over 78 de-grees (wet bulb) for some time will go to 00 or 101. If he keeps it up his heat of commission and his temperature will un up to 110 cr over. Lyle thinks that men can stand high

The employe's part is to drink stances, beer; to attend to his bowels regularly; to modify his diet; to adjust his clothing to the season. The employer's part is to provide an ample supply of clean, cool water in attractive containers and with clean drinking utensils;

1. Clip the hair very close. Wash the scalp well with a mixture of kerosene and vinegar, equal parts. Leave this on for one hour. Keep him away from the fire during this hour. Grease the scalp with vaseline. Comb well with a fine toothed comb. Wash the scalp with soap and water. Give a general bath and put on clean, freshly laundered clothing. REPLY. The shape and size of the legs and hips is more dependent upon heredity than any other factor. That being the case, you are not liable to change your shape to any materia degree. You tend toward obesity. There fore you do not care to increase the size of your calves by putting on fat. You can in crease them by developing your muscles. The best way for you to do that is to dance The best way for you to do that is to dancing. Do toe dancing as well as ordinary dancing. To get results you must work hard and long. If you will dance hard enough you will decrease your weight, and thus lose some fat from your hips. To give you a series of exercises would be foolish on my part, and more so on yours to try them. So far Hoover has been a distressing puzzle to the cynics of Washington. When a new man comes down to the national capital the first question they ask is "What is he after?"

In the case of Hoover they know it is not money. His salary and that of each of his chief assistants all volunteers has been fixed at $1 a year. They are equally certain that Hoover

ISPECIAL CABLE TO CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—[Delayed.]—Working under the heaviest firing along the battle front in France, two American women attracted the attention of the French ministry of war today. They are Mrs. Borden Turner of Chicago and Mrs. Daly of New York.

During the flercest of the recent fighting these two women have refused to leave their posts and even have moved nearer to the front with their first sid stations. They took several French aurses with their units.

Mrs. Turner arrived in Paris today in response to a call from the war minister. She leaves for the front again early tomorrow morning.

She would not have left the front, she said, except for a lull in the fighting.

Algonquin Fund Grows, but More Is Needed to Keep It Open.

Fortune favored yesterday the tenement dwellers longing for a sight of green grass, flowing water, and trees. In point of contributions to the fund for THE TRIBUNE hospital and Camp Algonquin, it was one of the best days of the season.

The contributions amounted to more than $150 and a telegram was received from Frank Kimball, who is at Beulah. no different than pure air. Disease germs are invisible even when in millions.

You know they exist, because doctors with microscopes see them and trace diseases to their sgency. You know they must be there, also, because you can give no other reason for healthy persons being suddenly stricken with disease.

But you cannot dodge these ravagers of health. If they attack you, it is an unseen battle between your health and their poison.

You can attack them in many places, exterminate them before they can bring disease to you and yours. Lysol is your weapon. A 25c bottle of Lysol makes two gallons of disinfectant killing all germs, a 50c bottle makes five gallons. Where disease germs breed in the home—sinks, drain-pipes, defective plumbing, tollets, garbage cans and damp woodwork—there sprinkle Lysol Disinfectant. When disease is in the neighborhood (and when is it not?) you can thus make your home a safe refuge. Otherwise, your home may be the very place where disease takes heaviest toll.

There is only One True Lysol—the reliable disinfectant of large hospitals. It is put up in three sizes: 25c, 50c and $1.00, sold everywhere, and each package and bottle is marked with this name written thus—

A young man recently married a stenographer. He earns a small wage. They decided to buy a little home. She thought it the proper idea for her to continue working at the typewriter for a couple of years to help him make the payments on the home. She makes almost as much as the young husband, and could support herself on her own salary. The law says a married man who is supporting a wife is exempt. She could get along alone, financially, but Maj. Chiperfield is inclined to the belief that exemptions should be granted in such cases.

Vacations and the War

The man who counsels against taking a vacation this summer because this country is at war is simple-minded.

Not only is it stupid policy to curtail normal circulation of money throughout the country, but far more stupid is it to jeopardize our citizen health and happiness.

We shall need every ounce of vitality we possess to carry the burdens we have assumed. Rest, recreation, and recuperation are important in maintaining our individual and national stamina. Our manpower—and woman-power—is going to be pushed to the utmost, and it is just as patriotic to safeguard health as it is to safeguard liberty.

Vacation trips also stimulate the vitality of commerce and industry and help foster prosperity. This is particularly true now that foreign shores are closed to tourists.

Secretary of the Interior Lane says: "It is even more important now than in times of peace that the health and vitality of the nation's citizenship be conserved."

There promises to be no lapse in the vacation habit.

Reduced Gas Rates Are Now in Effect!

All gas bills delivered in the City of Chicago on and after August 10, 1917, for gas used through any one meter. (10-light size or less) will be at the following rates:

30 cents per month minimum bill, including 350 cubic feet of gas.
70 cents per 1,000 for the next 9,650 cubic feet per month.
65 cents per 1,000 for the next 40,000 cubic feet per month.
40 cents per 1,000 for all gas in excess of 50,000 cubic feet per month.

Under these reduced rates, gas can be used to advantage, as a fuel, as well as a light producer, for practically all household, business and industrial purposes. Think what that means

The girl entering a little later with her young soldier brother saw him immediately. Dorothy had already lost two one in Egypt, and her cousin lay dangerously wounded in a Paris hospital.

With flashing eyes and white face the girl went up to a little group of her friends.

"How dare that slacker come to a mil-itary ball!" she said. "Let's all of us refuse to dance with him."

The idea soon spread, as such ideas do, through the crowded room. Five minutes later the slacker stood a very embarrassed looking young man over by the door—not a woman in the room would dance with him! The slacker thought there was no absolute necessity for his lingering about much longer—and he didn't.

"MADAME BO-PEEP"

BY MABEL M'ELLIOTT. SEENA OWEN is pretty enough to make a list of some desen proposals quite a plausible affair, and you'll have to admit that Teddy Westlake exhibits admirable taste in permitting her to break his heart. Which lob she does very thoroughly in "Mad-job she does very thoroughly in "Man-ams Be-Peep."

It's a well knit tale, circling about the engaging Cotavia, much beset by many suitors, and especially by three, Teddy, Willie Cooper, and Col. Beaupres. Teddy Westlake is a fine, upstanding young lad who plays pole when he isn't dancing attendance upon her; Willie is inconsequent, sends flowers, and proposes in the time honored, down-on-kness fashion; and the colonel—well, the secret must out—Octavia marries him!

Widowed after a brief honeymoon, she finds that the dear old colonel was a "gold brick," and that his only remain-ing asset is a sheep ranch, whither [ploturing herself as Bo-Peep of the unreary rhyme] she promptly decides to go. Ted-dy has long since betaken himself westdy has long since betaken himself west-ward to forget the trifler, and when she rushes up to find him manager of the "Ranch of the Shadows," remarking how nice it is to see a friendly face in that God forsaken country, he is cool, calm, and collected, calls her "Madame Beaupree," and detachedly announces that the conveyance is waiting. Just like that!

Madame Bo-Peep isn't used to this sort of treatment and trots out all the wiles that used to bring 'em to her feet. She makes one lean, brown Juanita rabidly jealous, but has no visible effect on the adamant Teddy. She has, he declares with emphasis, broken his heart for the 1-last time. However, it develops later that she knows how to heal as well as hurt [and I'm going to let you find out that part for yourself].

Clean and charming is "Madame Bo-Peep." The man of the house will like it, and so will his sisters, and his cousins and his aunts.

Nome of the food conservation meetings this summer one of the women present said she had put down string beans in sait many times and used one inch of sait to four of beans. Presumably she used a large stone jar or crook.

This method of preserving green beans has been practiced for many years, although it is seldom to be found in a cook book. It is interesting, therefore, to find it in a 1784 edition of a way to use them. What we call string or snap beans are called French beans in England, so the title of this recipe is in order to reduce superfluous flesh. Reads: "Take fine young beans, gather them on a very fine day, have a large stone jar ready, clean and dry; lay a layer of beans, then sait, and then a layer of beans, then sait, and then a layer of beans, then sait, and then a weight te keep it close from all air; set them in a dry cellar, and when you use them cover them close again; wash those you took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let them for no type took out very clean and let tright angles and hands outward in a dry cellar, and when you bed them do not put any sait in the water. ED WALSH BACK: BLANKS CUBS FOR 5 ROUNDS

Former Sox Star Is Then Taken Out; Braves Win.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY. Ed Walsh "came back" yesterday as a big league pitcher, but he didn't stay long enough for Chicago's anxious fans to learn the truth. Big Ed at least made a tremendous impression, for he blanked the Cubs for five innings, and then with the score 1 to 0 in his favor Manager Stallings sent the former White Sox star to the clubhouse, evidently fearing disaster should he remain.

To make it still better for Big Ed, his successor was mauled and battered hor-ribly. Frank Allen was the unfortunate fellow. Cy Williams hit the first ball pitched for a home run over the right wall, tying the count. Then Charley Deal poled a triple to right center and Chuck Wortman lined a single to center. That put the Cubs in the lead. The crowd jeered and joshed Mr. Stallings, but the latter yanked Allen and Chicago sent Don Carlos Patrick Ragan to the St. Lou The Braves tied the count again New York

Cubs Split Even on Day. big feature of the double header which ended the series with the Braves. An even split on the day was the result, the Cubs winning the first, 6 to 4, and lesing the second, 4 to 3. Walsh looked time admirers and was removed while still looking great. George Stallings proved himself a kind man and at the same time a smart leader and the Cubs were satisfied, as they won the odd game in the series of five combats.

Had it been possible to plan Walsh's game in advance, it couldn't have been better for him. As it is now, his Chicago admirers think he is back in some-thing like his old time form, and when his substitute appeared to start the sixth inning the crowd yelled madly for Walsh, but the big spitball hurler was already in the dressing room and his reputation had been saved.

Big Ed Hasn't Old "Zip" on Ball. It would be hard to say just how good Walsh was, but it was easy to see that he was far from the Ed Walsh of 1906 to 1912. He had the oldtime ease and grace on the slab. He fielded his posigrace on the slab. He fielded his position with his customary accuracy and precision. He had the old balk motion to hold runners on the bases and he wortman. to hold runners on the bases and he had the old time physique, but the old "sip" wasn't on the ball. He didn't have good control, walking four men in the five innings. He was in dangerous places in the third, fourth, and fifth innings, but managed to escape, and no doubt his close friends were glad that he falled to come back in the sixth while all the honor still was his. Experts of the press stand felt that the big fellow didn't have much and there is no doubt that George Stallings,

Jim Vaughn, who hadn't fought a battle with Waish since 1912, was on the mound for the Cubs and worked in fine fashion considering the fact that it fashion considering the fact that it is to the Braves. His wildness helped the Braves to their first run and also to Williams. the pair scored in the tenth.

The first game was quite a battle, with Claude Hendrix hurling for the ocals and Jess Barnes for the Braves. The Boston men opened fiercely with three blows off Claude in the first inning, but only one run counted. In the third the Cubs hammered in a pair of tallies, adding another by clean stick work in the fourth and clinching the victory by driving in three in the sixth. Hendrix suppressed the Braves nicely after the first until the seventh, when he was hit for a couple of runs, and in the eighth, when one more was when he was hit for a couple of runs, and in the eighth, when one more was clouted home, but by that time the Cubs were so well in the lead that Claude had nothing to fear.

NOTES OF THE CUBS. The Phillies come today to begin series of five games.

Lou Comiskey and several attaches from the White Sox park were present to see the "comeback" of Walsh. Before the second game began Walsh was presented with a big bundle of roses from somebody, Ed Smith making a brief presentation speech.

mid lake. Fine trolling is had on the east side, close to shore, from Hamilton piace down almost to the old bridge, then across and just outside the weeds, all along the west shore. Wabbiers are the most successful artificials, while frogs and live minnows are also killers. Early morning and late afternoon good catches of bass are made trolling very slowly.

For pickerel trolling use spoon and pork rind. Among the logs of the old bridge is a good place to get rock bass with worms and gruba. Blue gills are most often caught one or two hundred yards off shore, about midway on the east side. Silver bass bite best directly west from Varnell's pier, almost all the way across the lake, and perch are found on the west side along Knickerbocker woods. Bullheads can be caught at night with fish heads or beef and a lantern, just off Peacock's pier. Good fishing can also be had in the upper lake, which is reached via a small stream two or three hundred feet long.

NARROW TRADE,

I EW YORK, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—
The prospective heavy expenditures by the government for airplane construction continued to be the subject of conjecture and theories as to what may occur if various contingencies arise formed the basis for much of today's trading on the curb. There is reason to believe that inside interests were selling both the airplane stocks on the high level reached a couple of days ago, and that speculative interests are now furnishing most of the market business in the two issues. Wright-Martin, which a few days ago sold at 17, opened this morning at 13%, and was

It has been pointed out here that the proposed price fixing plans of the govent are having the same retarding effect on business activity as accompa nies proposed changes in the tariff. Discussing this situation in its August review of business the National Bank of the Republic says:

"Legislative uncertainties as to price fixation, excess profits taxes, and govarnment control of industry-continue to exert a depressing influence on enterprise. Business men feel unsettled as to the outlook and consequently are more cautious as regards their future commitments. In fact, the fear of price adjustments is causing many persons and other buyers of manufactured comities to reduce their stocks while the ellation of orders is becoming in easingly prevalent.

Betail Sales Disappointing. For one thing, retail merchandising in sany lines has proved disappointing during the last few months, which pe riod coincides with that between the dates of registration and the drawings nder the selective draft military bill. There is no doubt that the purchases the 10,000,000 registrants have been seriously curtalied pending the actual se-ection of the men.

"From an industrial point of view, however, little diminution of activity is in evidence. Except as affected by sporadic labor troubles industrial output is striving for new records of production whatever loss is being suffered in private buying being quickly compensated by the expanding government require-

Prospect Not Reassuring. "The government apparently is committed to a price fixing policy which, rding to the recent formal appeal made by the president to the industrial interests of the country, may be expected to apply to public as well as to government buying. Judging from the experience of the railroads under the rate regulation of the interstate commerce commission-the only existing ex ample of government price regulation, applied on a large scale and over a long period—the prospect of similar control over industrial enterprise is by no means

"To a certain degree inflation is already present, in that commodity prices have been enhanced by the great increase in our gold supply and the cred-lt to which it gives rise. Although gold orts still continue fitfully, exports of the metal are tending to reverse the net

Second Loan Due in Fall. "Credit expansion through the me dlum of war loans is now an accomplished fact and must continue as the cost of the war increases whether or not our gold stocks increase proportion ately. A second war loan is expected to be marketed in the early fall and already there are indications that congress will soon be called upon to make further authorizations.

"The first year of the war, it is estimated, will cost the country in direct expenditures and for aid of the allies an average of $40,000,000 per day. What will be the ultimate effect of this great increase in credit cannot be surmised but that some further degree of inflation will result is a foregone conclu-

Wheat Prices Soaring. Wheat prices advanced 13c for the day, count for the strength except the fact that offerings were light and a few shorts tried to cover. Cash trade is quiet and there is attempt to do much usiness aside from a little buying for the mills. Indian reports are favorable and shipments from that country are expected to increase shortly as tonnage is being provided. Argentina also reports favorable outlook for wheat with a big acreage. Receipts of wheat were 42 cars and western points had 606,000 bu, compared to 1,930,000 bu a year ago. Winnipeg receipts were 31 cars, against 661 cars a year ago.

Light Offerings for Products. Offerings of provisions were light at the start and in the late trade a buying movement started, which resulted in materially higher prices. The light offerings more than any particularly b. ying were responsible for the advance. The cash trade is said to be improving to some extent. Receipts of hogs were 20,000, with 18,000 for today estimated, and western receipts were 77,700, against 89,400 a year ago. Hog quality hogs being firm. The lard yield setting much of any corn, and there is no indication of any-abatement in the demand for the liquor interests until the time fixed by the food bill. In oats prices also were strong, \(\frac{1}{2}\text{20}\) higher. Standards on track sold as high as $30, or about 12c over the September price. Bids to the country were higher than the previous day, but brought few offerings. Outside points are outbidding Chicago on oats. In the east the demand is urgent. and Buffalo was reported bidding strong for oats in the west. The country so far is ignoring the high prices and few new oats are being contracted for.

Intense heat damaged small grains in the northwest where the cereals had not reached the dough stage, but otherwise there was little injury, according to the weekly crop report of Van Duson-Harrington. General rains occurred in western North Dakota and also in South Dakota. Harvest will soon be causing considerable short covering, to the weekly crop report of Van Duwith local bulls aiding the advance. Final quotations were 1%@1%c higher.

The cash demand was good and No. 2 South Dakota. Harvest will soon be writtened at a new high, $2.40. Distillers are credited with continuing their purchases and there is no increase in the dry weather and high temperatures. the dry weather and high temperatures.
